Workshop on Goods and Service Tax (GST)
One Nation, One Taxation - Learn Implementation

GST is a historical reform in India's indirect tax system after independence. France was the world's first country to implement GST Law in the year 1954. Since then, 159 other countries have adopted the GST Law in some form or other. GST subsumes excise duty, service tax and most other indirect taxes at the state and local level. This new tax system aims to create a common market for goods and services in the country. Besides, GST aims to bring about transparency and simplicity in the administration and indirect taxation in India. This system is expected to improve competitiveness of Indian exporters in global market.
